A One Day Webinar on “IPR Awareness for Sustainable Development” was successfully organized on 27th April 2026 at 10.30 AM in the Seminar Hall by the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), Institution’s Innovation Council (IIC), Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Cell, and the Department of Library.

The programme commenced with a prayer rendered by Mrs. Raihana, invoking divine blessings for the success of the event. This was followed by the welcome address delivered by Dr. S. Kanagasundari, Librarian, IQAC Coordinator, and IPR Coordinator. In her address, she warmly welcomed the resource person, faculty members, and participants, and highlighted the growing importance of Intellectual Property Rights in the academic and research ecosystem. She emphasized that awareness of IPR is essential for safeguarding innovation, promoting ethical research practices, and contributing to sustainable development.

The highlight of the programme was the enlightening session delivered by the distinguished resource person, Dr. S. Srinivasaragavan, Senior Professor and Founder Head, Department of Library and Information Science, Bharathidasan University. He provided a comprehensive and in-depth understanding of Intellectual Property Rights, beginning with the various types such as patents, copyrights, trademarks, industrial designs, and geographical indications. He clearly explained how these rights protect the intellectual creations of individuals and institutions, thereby encouraging innovation and creativity.

Further, the resource person elaborated on the rules and regulations governing IPR, including the procedures for registration, the duration of protection, and the legal framework at both national and international levels. He stressed the importance of proper documentation and adherence to legal norms to ensure that intellectual works are adequately protected.

A significant portion of the session was dedicated to publication ethics. Dr. Srinivasaragavan emphasized the need for honesty, transparency, and integrity in research. He discussed unethical practices such as data fabrication, falsification, and improper authorship, and highlighted the importance of peer review in maintaining the quality and credibility of academic publications.

The session also covered the critical issue of plagiarism. The resource person defined plagiarism and explained its various forms, including direct plagiarism, self-plagiarism, and mosaic plagiarism. He introduced participants to plagiarism detection tools and explained the acceptable levels of similarity in academic writing. The importance of proper citation and referencing to avoid plagiarism was strongly emphasized.

In addition, the resource person provided valuable insights into effective report writing. He explained the structure of a research report, including the title page, abstract, introduction, methodology, results, discussion, conclusion, and references. He advised participants to maintain clarity, coherence, and originality in their writing.

The programme was highly informative and engaging, providing participants with a clear understanding of IPR, research ethics, and academic writing practices. It greatly benefited students, faculty members, and researchers by enhancing their knowledge and awareness in these critical areas.

The session concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Ms. P. Sivaranjani, Assistant Librarian, who expressed her sincere gratitude to the resource person, organizers, and participants for their valuable contributions. The entire programme was efficiently anchored and coordinated by Ms. Aswini, Assistant Professor, and Department of English, whose efforts ensured the smooth conduct of the event.

Overall, the webinar was a grand success, achieving its objective of promoting awareness about Intellectual Property Rights and fostering a culture of ethical research and sustainable development.

Online Staff Feedback and Queries

During and after the webinar, an online feedback and query session was conducted to gather responses from the staff members and participants. The feedback was collected through a Google Form, and participants actively shared their views, suggestions, and questions.

The majority of the staff members expressed that the session was highly informative, well-structured, and relevant to their academic and research activities. They appreciated the resource person's clear explanation of Intellectual Property Rights, publication ethics, and plagiarism issues. Many participants mentioned that the session enhanced their understanding of patent filing, copyright protection, and ethical research practices.

Several queries were raised by the participants regarding the process of applying for patents, the acceptable plagiarism percentage in research publications, and the use of plagiarism detection tools. The resource person addressed all the queries in a detailed and practical manner, providing guidance on how to avoid plagiarism and maintain research integrity.

Some staff members suggested conducting more such workshops with hands-on training sessions on plagiarism checking tools and research report writing. Overall, the feedback was overwhelmingly positive, indicating that the webinar successfully achieved its objectives.

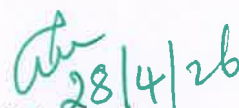

Conclusion

In conclusion, the One Day Webinar on "IPR Awareness for Sustainable Development" proved to be highly meaningful and beneficial for all participants. The programme successfully enhanced awareness about Intellectual Property Rights, its various types, rules, and the importance of protecting intellectual creations. The session also provided valuable insights into publication ethics, plagiarism issues, and effective report writing, which are essential components of quality research.

The resource person's comprehensive and clear presentation enabled participants to gain practical knowledge and a deeper understanding of academic integrity and legal aspects of research. The active participation, positive feedback, and engaging query session reflected the relevance and impact of the programme.

Overall, the webinar achieved its objective of promoting responsible research practices and encouraging innovation among students and faculty. It also emphasized the need for continued learning and awareness in the field of IPR for sustainable academic and professional development.
